

Hello! I am currently a graduate student at the University of Montana!

I have designed a research study investigating the distress caregivers can experience after their care-recipient experiences a life-threatening event.

The findings of this study have the opportunity to help researchers better understand the caregiving process, as well as help caregivers around the world.

Your responses will not be linked to your name, so I will never know what you answered. I am not interested in any individual's response, but rather, the average responses. In this light, I ask that you respond to the questions as honestly as possible.

You have the right to skip any questions that you do not feel comfortable answering. There will be no penalty for doing so.

You are also free to exit the survey at any time if you wish to discontinue your participation.

If you would like to participate in the study, you may do so by clicking the link below, or pasting the link in your web browser:

Once you click the link, it will take you directly to the survey with instructions on how to complete it. If taking it on an Android, you will have to scroll down on the first page.

I greatly appreciate your time and your participation in this study!
